A Unified Canadian Ranking/Rating System

Squash Canada's 2016 AGM (held in June) saw a key motion unanimously passed; a Unified Canadian Ranking System. Such a simple idea but the logistical challenges are immense. There are a handful of software programs that can handle rankings, some better than others. To get all PT's and Squash Canada on the same system, or a new one, will be a fine achievement if successful and will ultimately get us to where the community wants us to be.

From the Press Release:

"Squash Canada and the Provincial/Territorial representatives endorsed the desire to have a unified, nation-wide ranking system at all levels of participation. What that ranking system will be, when and how it will be implemented is still to be determined but there was a commitment made by all to fully engage in the development process to ensure that collective needs can be met with one system. In addition to the rankings, the desired system would look to explore many other business functions such as membership management, tournament administration, officials' certification, etc. One unified system is expected to provide many efficiencies and greater coordination of player results and rankings.

Squash Canada will take the lead in the project, working closely with partners, members and key stakeholders. As the project moves forward the first steps will be collaborating with partners and members to establish what a system needs to be able to do. A project plan will be established and a committee formed with stakeholder representatives to help guide the process. A one to two-year development process is anticipated."

And:

"Addressing the current status of the Canadian Rankings System was singled out as one of the highest priorities identified by respondents to Squash Canada's strategic planning telephone interviews and online survey. Currently, there are a multitude of tournament results platforms being used around the country that do not readably 'speak' or upload to the existing national player results database being managed by Squash Canada. Consequently, without all results being imported into the database, and in a timely manner, the rankings generated were most often not accurate representations of where a player really stood."

Coming off a 15-9 defeat from last year, Team Canada dug deep and pulled off a great victory for the 2016 Battle of the Border by beating the mighty US 13 matches to 11. Of the 9 five set matches, Team Canada won six adding to the excitement of the day and showing incredible competitive composure and resolve.

A special mention to the Boys U-17 who won all four matches. A complete reversal from last year.

Many participants to appreciate. Thank you to:

‘We continue to appreciate those promoters, coaches, club members and volunteers who run PSA (and other) events and therefore contribute greatly to our Canadian HP system.’ With the USD v CAD exchange rate these events are having to find 40% more money.

There has been consistent community feedback that a circuit of smaller 3k tournaments would be beneficial to our pro athletes, as well as our up and coming juniors. A circuit like this was vibrant 15-20 years ago when there were many pro events across the country. If you feel your club would like to host a pro tournament but cannot raise the funds for a 5k PSA but a tournament with $3k in prize money is manageable please contact us.

High Performance Strategic Planning

De-centralized Training

Feedback from 38 major stakeholders, especially the athletes, allowed us to re-evaluate our HP programming. As a result, we are moving toward our goal with a de-centralized approach to our athletes.

Key programs:

- Starting September, 2016 there will be an Athlete centered funding support system; money for coaching, training, travel to tournaments etc.
- Squash Canada has created a pool of Primary Coaches who have applied for the opportunity to work closely with the planning of our National Athletes
- A key part of the Primary Coaches role is to manage and monitor the athletes Yearly Training Plan (YTP)
- Targeted Training Stints at established training programs with high level sparring

Professional Development National Team Camp

Squash Canada partnered up with Canadian Sports Institute Ontario to hold a Professional Development Camp for our athletes. 12 of our national players stayed in the University of Toronto, Scarborough dorms during a 5-day educational camp. The CSIO crew carried out a number of tests on our athletes as well as presenting lectures and workshops on nutritional and physiological demands for high performance athletes. AthletesCan and the Canadian Centre for Ethics in Sports (CCES) sent representatives to give presentations to the athletes.

One of the highlights was the referee's presentation put together by officials' guru, Wayne Smith. We were shown many different decision making situations on video and asked our opinion and decision. It was very interesting how our opinion might change after seeing the slow motion from a couple different angles. Most decisions became quite obvious as to the correct call with the benefit of replays. Great to see the PSA using the video playback to appeal border line decisions. The correct decision often comes back and it is great TV.

Athlete Development Program Camps

The Battle of the Border gives us the opportunity to have our best U-17, U-15 and U-13 Junior Athletes train together and have meaningful Team Canada bonding. Last summer we started with a U-17 Girls Camp. This summer we added a U-17 boys Camp which was held before the Battle. We had 30 junior athletes participate. Tentative camp and Battle dates for next summer:

30-3 August ADP boys' camp
4-6 August Battle of the Border
6-10 August ADP girls' camp

Thank you to the many volunteer Mentors/Coaches who gave their time to spar with our junior players and contribute to our succession planning.

Athlete Development Coaches

The Battle of the Border and ADP Camps have opened up many new National Coaching opportunities. Squash Canada created 6 new National Coaching positions 5 of which are filled. We are pleased to introduce the following Coaches who are now a key part of our Athlete Development Pathway:

| • Nicole Garon (ON) | Athlete Development Program Coach | U-17 Girls |

The Battle of the Border – Team strength

Team Canada was missing a few key players to the Battle Roster; our No.1 Boys U-15 and Girls U-13 among the key omissions. The US Team had to dig deep for their roster. Team US members according to their most recent US National ranking:

BU13 – 6, 15, 16, 20
BU15 – 3, 7, 8, 10
BU17 – 6, 8, 9, 13
GU13 – 2, 7, 8, 11
GU15 – 6, 8, 11, 18
GU17 – 9, 12, 14, 15

World Junior Team Selection Events

Selection Events for the 2016-2017 season:

- 21-23 October Windsor Squash and Fitness Club, Windsor, Ontario

- 27-29 January Ontario Racquet Club, Oakville, Ontario

World Junior Team Policy Change

It became mandatory to compete in 3 of 4 Selection events two years ago. We have added to the language of the Policy with the key changes as follows:

From Clause 16:

It is mandatory for each player to participate in three (3) of the four Designated Selection Events in each year of the two-year cycle (participation in the U-17 category counts as participation); only the three (3) best results will be used for calculation purposes.

From Clause 30:

It is mandatory for each Wild Card player to have participated in three (3) of the four Designated Selection Events in each year of the two-year cycle (participation in the U-17 category counts as participation) unless at full time college during one of the years

The criteria change will come into effect this season for the boys and next season for the girls. It is highly recommended that parents and coaches make themselves aware of this rule even for younger athletes. All high performance juniors should have a World Junior Timeline and Plan.

Deeper Dialogue

Technical Development – the Figure of 8!

They say you need 10,000 hours. And they are absolutely right give or take a few. 10,000 hours is enough to achieve technical prowess in any sport. It is this long road that can take you to professional technical proficiency; the ability to place the ball exactly how you envision. Not roughly or sometimes but with pin point accuracy and every single time. Accuracy can be found fairly quickly depending on talent level. It is the consistency that takes more time; accuracy + consistency = control.

One single drill can take you far along the technical journey. If you master the Figure of 8 solo drill the benefits should transfer in all other technical racquet work. If you can hit 120 Figure of 8's within 2" or if you can hit 500 or more consecutively then you are already technically advanced. If you cannot get these numbers yet you need to add this solo drill to your weekly regime for as long as it takes.

As a part of our testing protocols Squash Canada will be coming out with pathway recommendations for many tests, Figure of 8 included. For now, if you are at 100 consecutive Figure of 8's or less then you have much technical work to do.

And the need for technical development is prevalent in all sports. Here is a similar Tennis example from Cara Black:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=cThQlhFSZk>

And she could do the same when she was just 16 years old:

Chris Hanebury (BC) put it very well in his blog:

‘As for the game itself, it’s simply about repetition and hitting more balls. The more squash balls you hit the more grooved your swing becomes which means you will become more accurate and you will also learn to hit with more power.’

Quarterly Updates and News

The reality of continued non-Olympic status hits hard

Seems we are now as far as ever from Olympic inclusion. After years of working so closely with the IOC to conform to their criteria for inclusion we are now faced with a single nation deciding our fate going forward. The decision for a 2024 venue will be made next year. Let's all hope for a 'Squash Friendly' nation to win the bid....Rome, Budapest, Paris and Los Angeles are the remaining bidders.
